General Motors Company has presented Grand Rapids Controls in Qingdao, China with the coveted 2014 Supplier Quality Excellence Award for outstanding performance.

This is the first award received by GRCQD from GM and recognizes GRC's ability to provide high quality mechanical cables and actuators on time to GM plants globally.

The Supplier Quality Excellence Award was presented to GRC in a special ceremony at GRC's plant in Qingdao, China in early December. "This award from GM makes us particularly proud. It confirms that our approach to continually improve our people and processes results in our ability to provide the highest quality parts on-time to our customer around the world," says Jim Bradbury, President & CEO, Grand Rapids Controls.

In 2014, only 135 suppliers in China received this award. Eligible candidates must prove excellence in quality and delivery resulting from rigorous adherence to following an ISO TS16949 quality system.

Headquartered in Rockford, MI USA, GRC is a recognized global leader in the design and manufacture of mechanical cable systems to the automotive, aerospace, office furniture and defense industries.
